

Are you ready for the winter?

Products protected by valid patents are not offered for sale in countries, where the sale of such products constitutes a patent infringement.

Winter time means flu time. Every year thousands of people get sick because they catch a flu. To mitigate the effect of the various viruses, Fischer Chemicals AG put both APIs and natural extracts within your reach!

Both APIs and natural extracts can be used for a wide range of symptoms. They have the properties to help on various flu stages: coughing, fever, fighting infections or helping to boost your immune system. We present you our picked dry extracts and API for this season.
