

Tense situation at the Excipient market

The excipient market is hit by shortages and price increases and the outlook on 2023 does not show a relaxation. An early planning is highly recommended.

Lactose:

Sold out in many cases until end of the year. Please contact us for further information. Some items are still available at our warehouses.

MCC:

Major and established MCC manufacturers are practically sold out. Fischer Chemicals represents a new alternative with market presence in EU and USA with good availability. Contact us for offers, samples and specifications.

Urea:

Further price increase expected for 2023. Some positions (excipients as well as API) prompt available at our warehouses.

Other excipients:

If you are in (urgent) need of other excipients not shown above, please contact us. We may find solutions for you.

September 2022

Depending on valid commitments not all items can be sold to everywhere. Your contact person at Fischer Chemicals AG will provide you further information.
